SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Sept. 4.—The governor today forwarded to Chicago a request upon the president to be forwarded to Washington, to undertake means to secure Stensland from Morocco.

To Tie Up Deposit
WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 4.—The state department has been asked to aid in recovering $12,000 Stensland placed in the bank at Tangier.

TANGIER, Morocco, Sept. 4.—Paul O. Stensland, president of the Milwaukee Avenue State bank of Chicago, Ill., was arrested here yesterday by Harry Olson, assistant state attorney, who had followed the fugitive from Chicago through England and Spain to Gibraltar and this port, where the prisoner arrived in the night. After his arrest Stensland was conducted to the United States legation where he was detained in custody.

Story of Arrest
A telegram addressed to Stensland by his son, announcing an important remittance, and which was addressed to Gibraltar or Tangier, put justice on the banker's track. Olson was at once instructed to follow up the clue and arrest the fugitive.

On his arrival at Tangier he was convinced that he was on the right track, as Stensland had presented himself at several banks and tried to get letters of credit for large sums. He had actually deposited etamify He had actually effected a deposit of $12,000 in the Comptoir d'Escompte. It is a strange coincidence that the fugitive had assumed the name of Olson and, profiting by this fact, the attorney presented himself at Stensland's hotel, representing himself as his son, and learned that the latter had just left for Gibraltar.

Olson was just in time to catch the boat. Reaching Gibraltar, he found that Stensland had just started back to Tangier on board the German steamer Oldenbourg. Olson immediately chartered a steamer, and by traveling under full steam, arrived at Tangier before the Oldenbourg, which he boarded on its arrival at 3:30 o'clock in the morning. He recognized the fugitive and dogged his steps until 9:30, when Stensland went to the British postoffice and requested that all mail addressed to the name of Olson be forwarded to Mogador.

As he was signing the request form Olson interposed, saying:

"I am Olson; sign your own name, Stensland."

Stensland was thunderstruck and, after vainly protesting for some moments, allowed himself to be conducted

EXPECT SURPRISES IN PRIMARIES

Political Leaders are at Sea and Say Lenroot Sentiment Grows

The Tribune will bulletin election returns tonight at its office 121 Main.

The last word is spoken, the last gun fired and by 8 o'clock tonight when the polls close the initial test of the primary law in Wisconsin and the fate of the multitude of candidates will have been decided.

The vote being polled is larger than was expected. Up to 12:15 p. m., ninety-five votes had been cast in the Fourth ward, being about forty behind the number cast by that time at a regular election. At other polling places about a two-thirds vote is being cast, and much more interest is being manifested in the voting that it was thought would be probable, from early disinterestedness of voters.

Though most of the leading politicians are willing to concede a majority for Davidson in La Crosse county they maintain that they find Lenroot sentiment growing, and would not be thunderstruck if the count of votes should show some big surprises.

It is expected, owing to the multitude of candidates, and from the impossibility to calculate owing to the newness of the system that all guesses will be off and that surprises will await in county offices especially when the votes are taken up.

WOMAN'S CALL SCARES BURGLAR

Midnight Visitors Flee When Mrs. Funk Asks What is Wanted

At 3:15 Sunday morning burglars pried open a window and entered the home of M. Funk, Fourteenth and Main streets, but were frightened away by Mrs. Funk who called from upstairs to know what was wanted.

The midnight visitors entered the house by prying open a window in the rear. Mrs. Funk, who was sleeping on the second floor, was awakened and called down asking who was there. The burglars made a hasty exit and so far as is known secured no booty.

They had not had time to get upstairs, but had thoroughly ransacked the entire lower floor. Mrs. Funk was unable to tell how many were in the party of crooks.

The police have no clew.

FREEPORT STEAL SIMPLY "ROTTEN"

"I don't think President Powers will have the nerve to leave the decisions as rendered by the umpire on the Freeport diamond Saturday, said President John Elliott of the baseball association.

"There was to be two games played and the Eau Claire team arrived at the diamond in plenty of time to start the game at 2 o'clock. As it was raining in the morning the grounds were in very poor condition. As the teams were getting ready for practice work it began to rain again and continued to rain for about forty-five minutes. The manager of the Eau Claire team thought there would be no game and he called his men together and they started back for their hotel. A statement was made by a witness to the effect that the ball-players would have had to wear rubber boots and a rubber coat. After the Eau Claire club had left the field Freeport went on the diamond and as there was no opposing team to play with, a favoring umpire simply gave the game to Freeport. In the protested game yesterday there was no occasion for protest whatever, for in case of delay the games scheduled are to be played at another date and because the train that brought the Green Bay team to Freeport was late the umpire decided again in favor of Freeport. Both of these games will probably be played over at some time in the future.

"I believe that with anywhere like a square show we have the long deal in regard to winning the pennant as on our own diamond we have not had an easier proposition than Freeport," said Mr. Elliott.

"We shall see that we have a fair deal with regard to umpires."

Henry Lichtfeldt of Milwaukee with whom Blair was traveling made the complaint. They had stopped in the Milwaukee yards to wait for a train and Lichtfeldt fell asleep. During his slumber Blair proceeded to pick his pockets, he says. He had succeeded in getting $3 when his victim awoke. Blair immediately ran away.

He will be arraigned before Judge Brindley and if he is found guilty he will be sent to the industrial school for boys at Green Bay.

"BRYAN BROOM" TO SWEEP REPUBLICANS OFF THE MAP

MANGLED ARM ON THE BRAKE-BEAM

Reveals Shocking Death of Andrew Halvorson of Sheldon, Minn.

A mangled arm and hand, spatters of blood and bits of flesh found hanging by car tappers on the brakebeam of Southern Minnesota train No. 8 which arrived here at 11 o'clock last night, led to the discovery of a shocking death met by Andrew Halvorson, aged 46, of Sheldon, Minn.

Halvorson, who was single, resided with his mother, two brothers and sister at Sheldon, and it is said had been celebrating Labor day in Houston, which is six miles north of Sheldon. He is believed to have been walking the tracks when struck by the train, and was not seen by the engineer. He was hit about a mile and a half east of Houston, his body being horribly mangled.

A portion of his body became fast in the mechanism under the cars and was thus discovered when the train reached here.

Coroner Ed Cronon was called and what of his body was found was placed in a small box and conveyed to Fessler & Dahl's morgue.

It is said at Houston that Halvorson was intoxicated and was wandering aimlessly upon the tracks.

VERMONT ELECTIONS TODAY POLITICAL STRAW

(Tribune Special Service.)
 BURLINGTON, Vt., Sept. 4.—The eyes of the nation are on Vermont. The result of today's election in this state will be significant. It is the straw that will show which way the political wind is blowing. If the republican majority should be light the Democrats of the country will consider it an omen of good, while on the other hand, should the majority be heavy, the country will take it as an indication that the Republicans may be generally victorious at the November elections.

The close of the campaign came last night with political gatherings in nearly every city and town in the state. All the ingenuity known to mortal man in politics has been used to stir up the interest of the voters, with the result that the largest vote ever cast in a state election in Vermont is promised today.

The republican candidate for governor is Fletcher D. Proctor, son of United States Senator Redfield Proctor. His opponent is Percival W. Clement of Rutland, who is the nominee of the Democrats and the so-called Independents.

The fight has been waged solely on state issues. The Republican platform advocates better schools, better highways, and the thorough care of all state wards on a plan of economy based on efficiency. Among the planks in the platform of the fusionists are retrenchment in state expenses, the formation of a state fund for the construction of permanent highways, and the advocacy of labor measures, including a weekly payment bill, an employers' liability bill and several other measures.

The chairman of the Republican state committee claims a majority of 20,000 for Proctor as a conservative estimate. The chairman of the Democratic and the independent state committees have issued a statement claiming that the fusion majority will be from 7,000 to 10,000. Governor Bell received a plurality of 31,499 two years ago.

For congressmen, the Republican candidates are David J. Forster of Burlington, from the first district, and Kittredge Haskins of Brattleboro from the Second, both of whom are the present representatives of the state in Congress. Their re-election is conceded.

The ships of this class cost all complete about $5,000,000, and carry a complement of forty officers and 772 men, including sixty marines.

FIERCE PASSION AND FRENZIED JEALOUSY

(Tribune Special Service.)
 MADRID, Sept. 4.—From Cadiz comes a tale of fierce passion and frenzied jealousy for which the fiery Andalusians have from time immemorial gained a deserved reputation.

A mulatto, from descriptions a gay Lothario, had become entangled in a love affair with two young women, one known as La Rubia (the fair one) and the other a dark skinned beauty named Celia. The thoughtless lover could not, or would not, make up his mind definitely between his two charmers, and so the hot blooded damsels, neither willing to withdraw, decided to settle the matter by fighting it out. They arranged to meet at midnight at a lonely spot on the seashore, the weapons to be daggers. The duel was to be to the death, and no quarter given. With howls of rage the two rivals rushed at each other, and so loud were their cries that they attracted the attention of some fishermen far out in the bay. When the latter arrived on the scene, Celia was lying in a pool of blood, while her rival, herself wounded in several places, continued plunging her dagger savagely into her victim's prostrate body. With great difficulty La Rubia was dragged away, shouting that it was a case of either of them having to die.

DEMOCRATS OF MINN. HOLD LARGE CONVENTION

(Tribune Special Service.)
 MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Sept. 4.—The democratic state convention in session here today is the largest convention the party has ever held in Minnesota. More than 1,200 delegates filled the auditorium when the gathering was called to order at 11 o'clock. After the usual preliminaries had been disposed of, the roll called and the opening addresses delivered the convention took a recess to permit the committees to prepare their reports. Governor Johnson will be nominated without opposition. Indications also point to a hearty endorsement for William J. Bryan.

Will Come Peaceably

TANGIER, Sept. 4.—Stensland, it is said today, has signified his willingness to return to the United States without extradition.

Fights Extradition

CHICAGO, Ill., Sept. 4.—Paul Olsen Stensland, president of the Milwaukee Avenue State bank, in flight after looting that institution of more than $1,000,000, when arrested at Tangier, Morocco, became at once an international figure by beginning a struggle to avoid returning to the United States. His captor, Assistant State Attorney Harry Olson, has cabled from Tangier for immediate action by the state department and the response is said to have been that President Roosevelt is taking a personal interest in the case.

Consular representatives of the United States in Morocco expect a special convoy of this government will be sent to Tangier. It is possible an American war vessel, expected at Gibraltar soon, will be ordered to Tangier and the Chicago bank wrecker be dragged in irons aboard that craft and started homeward.

To assist the measures for the return of Stensland, Judge Pond has promised to come here and issue nine bench warrants for the Tangier captive. These will form part of a record for extradition purpose.

There is no requisition treaty between Morocco and the United States. It is figured none will be necessary, as the sultan of Morocco, who is supreme in power, desires American friendship, and it is figured he will approve any measure necessary to the return to Chicago of the banker.

Stensland's capture in Tangier is due to an intercepted letter. This clew was received by the state attorney's office, the Pinkerton agency working for the directors of the wrecked bank and Receiver Fetzer, in turn. Each of these powerful agencies acted as soon as the information was received. The representative of the state attorney, Harry Olson, was first to arrive at Tangier, where the arrest of the fugitive banker soon followed. A Pinkerton man sailed direct from New York for Tangier and it was figured he would arrive two days later than Mr. Olson.

Attorney Archibald Cattell, acting for the directors, said that their agent was now in Tangier. He and the Pinkerton agency refused to say where their tip was secured. Attorney Jacob Loeb tried to reach the agent sent by the receiver by cable but failed.

According to Assistant State Attorney Barbour, President Roosevelt sent a message to Gummere at Tangier, requesting that he do all in his power to secure Stensland's return. The bench warrants against Stensland will charge the banker with embezzlement and forgery, on which the requisition papers will be based. Some delay was experienced by the state's attorney's office in securing the warrants, because Judge Chetlain and Judge Chytraus, who were appealed to, refused to come downtown to issue the warrants.

Stensland's former business associates and directors in the bank are his accusers. One of the warrants will charge the embezzlement of $1,000,000, on complaint of M. A. Laury, one of the directors. The remaining eight of the warrants will charge forgery. One will be signed by N. C. Bartholdy, two by Fred Moeller and one by M. A. Laury.

The state's attorney's office received another setback in its efforts to hasten the movements of the wheels of justice, when Bank Examiner C. C. Jones was sought to wear out some of the warrants. He finally was located at Rockford, Ill., but before he was found the warrants had already been prepared. Judge Chetlain and Judge Chytraus gave no reason for not wanting to issue the warrants except the inconvenience it would cause them to come downtown.

It is reported that $12,000 of the loot from the wrecked bank has been located in a bank at Tangier and there tied up by the assistant state's attorney. The money is to be returned to the fund being collected by Receiver John C. Fetzer for the 22,000 men and women made dupes by the scheming, crafty, dishonest Milwaukee avenue banker.

When the news of Stensland's capture was received at the bank, where the line of depositors waiting for the return of a part of their savings stretched away in a long line a jollification was held on the spot. Many of the depositors who have understood little about the bank crash except that their hard-earned savings were swept away, have half-formed ideas that Stensland has their money with him and with his return all will be well.

Those who could do so quickly secured papers and eagerly read of the arrest of the banker and imparted the news to their friends.

Some called down curses upon the head of the bank looter and threatened vengeance upon him for taking from them their money. They want their "pound of flesh" and nothing less than a pound will satisfy them. Others who have trusted and followed the banker for many years, placing their dollars in his hands with perfect faith, are feeling that faith returning.

"He will explain," they say; "he will pay us now when he comes back." Joy and relief, however, are the chief emotions displayed by the depositors. Some gave vent to them by cheers, others by oaths and others by smiles. All are satisfied.

One of the first actions of the authorities when the prisoner returns will be to take him to the bank he created and destroyed and face him with Hering, the cashier. The two will be forced to go over the papers and securities in the bank and determine which are genuine and which are forgeries.

CROWDS STRUGGLE FOR ADMISSION TO THE BIJOU

The opening of the Bijou theater yesterday was a stupendous success. Fully 600 people were turned away, unable to gain admission at either evening performance. The appreciation with which the splendid opening bill was received gave ample testimony to the fact that this popular theater has become a necessity of life to La Crosse people. The applause was liberal and enthusiastic, and the audience displayed a degree of satisfaction that must have been pleasing to Manager Schuberg.

The bill this week is one of the strongest that ever delighted a La Crosse audience. Tegge & Daniels, noted German-American star, kept the house in an uproar and disclosed the fact that they are equal to any dialect vaudeville team in the business. With inimitable drollery they satirized the tautonic cousins and made life in the theater a merry round of pleasure.

Prof. Will Emery opened with an overture whose excellence characterized the whole bill. James McDuff, vocal mimic, was easily up to the top notchers of the New York vaudeville stage. Noblette and Marshall put on a comedy skit in which the troubles of a butler were portrayed with side-splitting humor. Lawrence Walt, singing illustrated songs, proved himself an artist of quality whose talents will be appreciated here. De Shields and Mehring put on an aerial cyclist act and produced a "singing sou-brette" of pleasing presence and captivating genius. Lillian Clifford proved herself to be, as advertised, a "high class vocalist."

The moving picture feature was, as usual, a delightful addition to the performance. "Nobody Works Like Father, in His Dreams," was entertaining, and the "Gaieties of Divorce" concluded a program that was easily worth a dollar of anybody's money.

In the Labor day parade yesterday the Bijou was represented by a "rube band" that certainly was as rube and as "rotten" as anything could be made by scientific design. It demonstrated the high art of the ludicrous to a convincing nicety.

WE DON'T KNOW, BUT WE HOPE

Frankly, we don't know. We know that there is a primary election on today. We know that the voters are deeply interested in the outcome. But we don't know the thing that most newspapers know to beat the band. We don't know how it is coming out.

You see, it is a new game, this primary plan. One can't tell by talking to a few leaders of parties and factions of parties what is going to be done at the polls. Things are going to go about the way most of the people want them to go. Locally, there being no contest in the democratic party, there is likely to be a tremendous vote in the republican primaries. The inference sometimes thrown out that democrats are going to vote for men whom they regard as weak republican candidates in order to beat them with strong democratic candidates is not true. We know that most democrats who vote in the republican primaries are going to vote for liberal, competent democratic republicans. At least, they will vote for men who they believe have these qualifications. The result will be beneficial, as it will tend to the production of the very best ticket possible and will insure good officials no matter who is elected. It is unjust and unkind to say that the generality of democrats would submerge their manhood and their citizenship by voting for inefficient or dishonest candidates for any party nomination. They would no more do that than would the generality of republicans.

To repeat, we do not know how it is going to turn out. We are not going to make predictions and hedge with ifs and ands concerning the volume of voting done, etc. We know who ought to be nominated, in our humble opinion, but we are not sure that the outcome will be what we think it should be. And we are just like the papers that know all about it, in that we know as much about it as they do. We hope that the best men, having the best purposes and the most accurate conceptions of public needs, will in every instance be nominated.

BLOCKING THE STREETS

The E. R. Barron company has been blocking a good portion of Main street for more weeks than we have time to reckon. No wonder that pedestrians are beginning to object and make complaint.

The E. R. Barron company is doing a good job, a difficult job. It is adding an attractive front to its nice store and reaching out under the streets for store room that will be handy, and all that. It will be an attractive, modern front, and the enterprise is a commendable one.

But in doing this job for itself, the E. R. Barron company should not forget the rights and convenience of the public. It has dragged along with this job, employing a handful of men sometimes, and sometimes a couple of men or so. They are good men, and they are doing good work. But they are apt to catch cold along about the first of January down in that pit if they don't move faster.

We suggest that the board of public works take cognizance of this job and warn the E. R. Barron company against any display of haste that may become a violation of the speed limit ordinance.

GESSLER'S GOOD GUESS

Uncle Joe Cannon's presidential boom went off with a loud Associated Press report.—Bangor Independent.

A man cannot live down a life record in a single campaign.

There are two sorts of logic that will come handy tonight. One is that achievement is the crown of virtue and other is that there is no use crying over spilled milk.

It will be interesting to note how much more it cost some men to get defeated than it cost some men to get elected.

There is a possible outcome of the election that might result in a further strain upon "party lines."

Live business men should not overlook the lecture of Henry Watson Cornell tonight. He discusses a most vital subject—the elimination of the mail order menace. He should be heard by everybody who can possibly attend.

Price-competition between merchants is so keen and takes such unexpected turns, that—unless you are a regular reader or the ads—you will be, constantly, paying more for some article than is necessary.

Not knowing where to buy to best advantage is one of the varieties of ignorance on which there is a heavy tax. You can escape this tax by reading the ads.

JUST LIFE

And now there are all those election expenses to pay.

What Is Better?

It's better to grin at the joys we have
And beckon more joys our way,
Than with face all awry to grumble
and sigh
For fancied pleasures of yesterday.

Stensland probably thinks there is no land safe for a thief.

It is to be assumed there are several throats full of hearts today, if the candidates are really concerned.

Now WOULDN'T it be a victory for La Pollette if Lenroot should slip in under the guns and steal the chair?

It is even more surprising that Mr. Booth, awaiting trial for the filching of $260, should try to shift the burden upon his wife's extravagance.

Judging from press reports Battling Nelson must have made himself unpopular with the Associated Press correspondent from the start.

Stay and Lose; Go and Win

The observant editor of the Bangor Independent notices that:

About this time four or five years ago Attorney Cuddy was running on the democratic ticket for district attorney of this county. He moved to a town in Michigan where the law-years were not so thick and had an opportunity of refusing the republican nomination for lieutenant governor of Michigan the other day. Martin Bergh, another La Crosse attorney, left the city a couple of years ago and went to Sioux Falls, S. D., and now he is big Injun out there. Moral? If you are a briefless attorney in the county seat, move off some where and immediately get up in the profession.

Bryan says we must be vigilant in the coming campaign to vote for sincere men, for the corporations will not be openly championed even by their friends.

Labor day was fitly observed.

Busy at the Wrong Thing

Paul Mahoney of La Crosse while driving his automobile the other day saw a runaway team. He became so absorbed in looking at it that he allowed his bubble to run away, striking a telephone post, damaging it considerably.—Bangor Independent.

ORGANIZED LABOR OBSERVES ITS HOLIDAY

Big Parade in the Morning is Feature and is Followed by Speeches and Festivities

Organized labor yesterday celebrated its annual holiday with considerable pomp and ceremony. The big parade in the morning through the principal streets was the chief event of interest, and was followed by the speeches and general festivities at the fair grounds which continued throughout the day.

The procession which started at the market square was headed by Dana's regimental band.

Following the band came the officers of the Trades and Labor council, A. B. Chandler, president; L. A. Weisbecker, secretary; William Panke, organizer, and William Goldsmith, marshal of the day.

The Rev. Henry Faville, District Attorney Otto Basshard and Attorney John F. Doherty, the speakers of the day, occupied the next carriages.

Marching Order

Lady Tobacco Workers; Molders Barbers; Electricians; Brewers (No. 8); Beer Bottlers; Brewers No. 155; Teamsters; Kreutz's band, leading the second division; Horseshoers, Bartenders, Clerks, Cigarmakers, Railroad Engineers, Railroad Firemen, Switchmen, Trainmen, Bricklayers, Stone Masons, Stone Cutters, Plasterers, Hod Carriers, Machinists, Pressmen, Coopers; Muenzenberger's band, leading the third division, Meat Cutters, Leather Workers, Carpenters No. 1143, Painters, Printers, Carpenters No. 1308, Plumbers, Boilermakers, Tailors. The Pastors' union also participated.

The parade was formed on the market square and the line of march was on Fourth to Pearl, west on Pearl to Front, north on Front to Main, east on Main to Fourth, north to State, and east on State to the Interstate fair grounds. The parade was one of the longest ever seen at a Labor day celebration in the city, and while all of the unions in the city were not represented, nearly the full membership of each union which participated was present. It is estimated there were 1,500 laborers in the parade and the marchers were frequently greeted with rounds of applause as they passed through the main streets of the city.

At the grounds speeches were delivered by Rev. Henry Faville, District Attorney Otto Basshard and John F. Doherty, all of whom spoke on questions of interest to labor. After noon came the program of sports, motor cycle and bicycle races. A heavy track prevented fast time, but the speed obtained by the machines was a marvel to all. The grandstand was filled. Start was not made until late, an opportunity being given to all to view the shows on the grounds. Side shows, candy wheels with a merry-go-round were the chief attractions. The results of the races follow: Five-mile motorcycle—Gudenschwager, first; Sherman, second; Large, third; Morgan, fourth. Time, 9:07. One mile open—Gudenschwager, first; Sherman, second; Morgan, third; Large, fourth; Schmicka, fifth; Muth, sixth. Time—1:58. Five-mile handicap—Gudenschwager, scratch, first; Sherman, 100 yards, second; Muth, one-fourth mile, fourth; Large, and Schmicka failed to finish. Time—8:48. One mile bicycle—Muth, first; McNeeny, second; Zein, third. Time—3:15. Large met with an accident at the start in the handicap and was unable to finish. He covered one lap. The race between the presidents of the unions was not held. Last night the day closed with a dance at Germania hall. Dana's orchestra furnished the music for the concert.

The march, the chief feature of the day in previous years, was a comparatively small affair, since the Chicago Federation of Labor held aloof and many unions were not represented.

BOSTON, Mass., Sept. 4.—Ten thousand workmen and women, representing the various local branches of the Boston Central Labor Union joined in one of the greatest Labor Day parades ever seen in this city. The procession was reviewed by Governor Guild, Mayor Fitzgerald and other notables.

The day was generally observed in Hartford, Providence, Springfield, Worcester and other New England cities.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Sept. 4.—For the first time in many years all factions of organized labor in St. Louis joined in a harmonious celebration of Labor Day. Both the Building Trades Council and the Central Trades and Labor Union were strongly represented in the parade. In the afternoon the labor unions joined in a big outing at Forest Park.

FORT WORTH, Tex., Sept. 4.—Labor Day was celebrated more elaborately here than ever before. Several thousand men took part in the parade, the Farmers' Unions being among the most strongly represented. The parade was followed by an outdoor demonstration, with speeches by prominent labor leaders.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Sept. 4.—Labor Day was celebrated elaborately by a parade participated in by several thousand laboring men and women, followed by a picnic and speech-making.

BALTIMORE, Md., Sept. 4.—There was a general observance of Labor Day in this city. Banks, exchanges and municipal buildings were closed, as were many prominent business houses. The usual parade of the labor unions was held.

NEW YORK, Sept. 4.—Labor Day was extensively observed in the metropolis. The stock exchanges and banks were closed and the labor organizations held picnics and excursions in various directions out of the city.

MONTREAL, Sept. 4.—Montreal witnessed one of the largest labor day demonstrations ever held here. More than 25,000 representatives of organized labor took part in the parade. A monster outing was held in the afternoon at Dominion park.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Sept. 4.—The largest Labor Day celebration in local history took place here. Visitors from all the surrounding country joined with the local labor organizations in the observance of the day.

AUSTIN, Texas, Sept. 4.—The Labor Day Parade here was the largest and most brilliant in the local history of these demonstrations. The streets were decorated and scores of visitors were in the city. The annual outing of the labor unions was held at Hyde park.

MOBILE, Ala., Sept. 4.—Mobile observed Labor Day with an elaborate demonstration under the auspices of the local trades council.

CLEVELAND, O., Sept. 4.—Cleveland's celebration of Labor Day this year was on an unusually elaborate scale. Longshoremen, machinists, mill men and other branches of organized labor turned out in full force.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Sept. 4.—Union labor of Minneapolis and vicinity celebrated the day with a monster parade, followed by outdoor festivities and addresses by some prominent speakers.

Toilers Celebrate Everywhere. CHICAGO, Ill., Sept. 4.—The annual holiday of labor was celebrated yesterday by a parade and picnics.

GANS WINS FROM BATTLING NELSON IN FORTY-SECOND

Colored Pug has Best of Contest From the Start; Foul Terminated Long-Drawn Contest

GOLDFIELD, Nev., Sept. 4.—Battling Nelson deliberately fouled Joe Gans in the forty-second round of the best and longest fight seen here in many years last night. Both men were tired when the fight ended but Gans was apparently the stronger. He was away ahead on points and smashed and cut Nelson all through the fight without being badly hurt himself.

Shortly after the forty-second round commenced the men were in their usual clinch. Nelson had his head on Gans' shoulder and him arm down. Several times he hit Gans below the belt, apparently feeling for a vital spot. At last he drew back his right arm and hit Gans a vicious blow square in the groin. The colored pug sank to his knees and rolled over on his back. Referee Siler without hesitation ordered Nelson to his corner and awarded the fight to Gans on a foul. Siler's decision received almost unanimous approval. The foul was so obvious that not even men who had bet on Nelson could say that it had not been committed.

All through the long contest Nelson had employed rough tactics. He repeatedly butted Gans and had to have his head hauled away by the referee. Referee Siler stated that while he would not say that the foul was intentional, there was no doubt but that it had been committed. Nelson, he said, had used his usual tactics all through the fight, and while he knew that Nelson was butting whenever he had an opportunity, he did not disqualify him because he saw that it was not hurting Gans, and as no other referee had ever disqualified Nelson for doing the same thing, he did not feel like doing it. Besides the people were there to see the fight and he did not want to disappoint them.

Siler was loudly cheered as he left the ring, as was Gans, who was carried to his dressing room. Nelson and his seconds were hissed as they departed. Billy Nolan, Nelson's manager, made a disconnected statement in which he said that Gans had promised not to claim the decision on a foul.

Gans Uses His Head
Gans explained his course of battle by saying that he did not want to box Nelson for fear of tiring himself. He found early in the game that he could protect himself in clinches and also realized that the exertion in fighting that way was much less than if he stood back and did some showy boxing. He was hitting Nelson all the time and maneuvering so as to make the Dams do most of the work. The first fifteen rounds of the fight were fast. After that the men slowed up and only at intervals was there a rally. Although Gans was far ahead of Nelson in points and most of the time looked like a sure winner, Nelson put up a wonderful fight on his side. The endurance and recuperative powers shown by Nelson were extraordinary. Time and time again Gans would jolt him on the jaw, sending the Dane back, his knees would bend and his eyes become glazed but he always fell into a clinch and held on and then come back fighting as hard as ever in his peculiar style. The minute's rest at the corner always did him good and he would come up fresh and strong. On nearly half a dozen occasions when it seemed another blow would put the white boy out, the gong rang and saved him. On several occasions, however, Nelson apparently had the advantage. He would hit Gans as they broke from a clinch and the colored boy would hang on and wrestle. Gans fought a remarkably clean fight. He was fair in everything and twice when he knocked Nelson down, picked him up. One time when one of Gans' punches knocked Nelson through the ropes, Gans picked him up and helped him to his feet. As the colored boy stood with his hand down waiting for Nelson to steady himself, Nelson gave him a vicious blow in the stomach. He was roundly hissed for this by the crowd.

Although Goldfield is a mining camp, it is seldom that a more orderly crowd ever attended such a contest. Gans undoubtedly was the favorite. His gentlemanly behavior won the admiration of all. Gans was a hero here after the fight. The attendance was about 5,000, although estimates were made as high as 8,500. The Goldfield Athletic club arrangements were perfect and the fight could be seen from any portion of the arena. About 200 women were present.

JOHN C. BURNS : FRUIT HOUSE :

FUGITIVE MGR. OF POSTAL TELEGRAPH IS CAPTURED

Employed Under Assumed Name in Train Dispatcher's Office in Michigan; Lays Downfall to Wife

J. W. Booth, former manager of the local office of the North American Telegraph company, was placed under arrest while at work in a train dispatcher's office at Jackson, Mich.

Booth left the city suddenly and under peculiar circumstances July 20 and it was later found that $200 of the company's money was missing.

A complaint was made out by the manager of the company and a warrant placed in the hands of the sheriff.

No trace of the man had been found until last Thursday, when word was received by Sheriff Hagen that Booth was thought to be in Concord, Mich.

Requisition papers were made out by District Attorney Bosshard and placed in the hands of Undersheriff Scott, who immediately left for Madison where they were signed by the governor.

After this Mr. Scott left for Michigan and succeeded in having the papers signed by the governor of Michigan.

After this was done Mr. Scott in company of Sheriff Parish, hired a team of horses and proceeded to Concord, but upon arriving there it was learned that Booth had left three days before for Jackson, Mich. Upon their return to Jackson they found that Booth was employed in the offices of the Michigan Central railroad. The door leading to the room in which Booth was working was located. After rapping they were admitted by

Booth. Sheriff Parish asked, "What is your name?"

"J. W. Mordant," replied Booth. At this point Mr. Scott extended his hand and addressed him as Mr. Booth and he admitted his identity and said that he formerly resided in La Crosse. He said that he was willing to take the first train back.

Mr. Booth admitted to Undersheriff Scott on his way back to La Crosse that he was short in his accounts but placed the blame on his wife whom he charged with extravagant living, etc. He said that he had decided to leave La Crosse on the spur of the moment and that an hour afterwards he was on his way to Michigan.

Mrs. Hughes who went with him, left him soon after they left La Crosse after which she came back to Scott on his way back to La Crosse that he was short in his accounts but placed the blame on his wife whom he charged with extravagant living, etc. He said that he had decided to leave La Crosse on the spur of the moment and that an hour afterwards he was on his way to Michigan.

It is thought that Mrs. Booth, who left soon after her husband's disappearance for her home in White Plains, Minn., will return to this city to prosecute him for desertion if he should escape the embezzlement charge.

Booth's departure from the straight and narrow path was a surprise to men who had become acquainted with him in a business way, as he appeared to be a capable business getter and a hustler.

BOY BUILDING

Right Food Makes Fine Boys.

Many people have questioned the truthfulness of the statement that the brain can be really nourished and built up from some particular kind of food. Experience is better than any kind of theory.

The wife of a prominent legislator in Kentucky says: "A woman of my acquaintance was in badly run down condition at the time she became a mother, and at three months of age the child was a mite of humanity pitiful to look upon, with no more brain development than a monkey."

"About the time I speak of when the child was three months old the mother began feeding him Grape-Nuts."

"In ten days it was plain that a change was taking place and in a few weeks the boy became rosy, healthy and rounded out."

"He is now five years old and his food this entire time has been Grape-Nuts and cream. He seldom ever takes any other kind of food."

"It is a splendid illustration of the fact that selected food can produce results, for this boy is perfectly formed, has a beautiful body and arms and legs of a young athlete, while his head and brain development appears perfect, and he is as bright and intelligent as can be."

"I cannot comprehend a better illustration of the truth of the claim made for Grape-Nuts, that it is a brain and body builder." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

LABOR WORLD NEWS OF TODAY

The annual report of Chief Labor Inspector Davies of Illinois shows that in twelve years the number of children employed in the state in gainful occupations has been reduced 80 per cent.

Arrangements are being made by the Wisconsin State Federation of Labor to mail literature explaining trades unionism to the farmers of that state.

The 700 men employed in the Great Western shops at Oelwein, Ia., who went on strike because of the discharge of seven members of the shop committee, won a complete victory and all were reinstated.

The letter carriers are going to locate their home for aged and infirm mail carriers at Colorado Springs, adjoining the Union Printers' home.

The labor unionists of Pittsburg are going to erect a temple to cost $100,000. Each union subscribing for the stock will be entitled to one director on the board.

In speaking of the appointment by President Roosevelt of Grand Chief E. E. Clark of the Order of Railway Conductors as a member of the Interstate Commerce commission, the official journal of the order says: While regretting to see Brother Clark leave his position as executive head of the order, we nevertheless appreciate the fact that the position to which he has been called holds opportunities for greater service and a much larger field of action which he could not well decline. Particularly pleasing is it to know that the appointment came unsolicited and that it was without political significance.

The report presented by Secretary-Treasurer Bramwood to the recent convention of the International Typographical union at Colorado Springs showed that the financial transactions for the year just ended were much larger than those for any previous year in the history of the union. This was due chiefly to the benefits disbursed during the great eight-hour strike.

According to a recent newspaper item the Pullman Palace company is confronted with a serious problem in the matter of securing competent colored porters for its cars. Some of the officials of the company have suggested that "the best way to overcome this difficulty would be to start a training school for porters, and after a course in that institution work them on the cars at half pay until they demonstrate their efficiency for the work."

The sixteenth annual convention of the National Brotherhood of Operative Potters, held in Akron, O., last month, marked an epoch in the history of that organization. Beginning with a membership of less than 500, it now has on its roster almost every worker in the pottery trade, and reports a financial strength sufficient to meet any contingency.

Seven hundred and fifty-five members were initiated into the Order of Railroad Telegraphers during the month of July.

LA CROSSE THEATRE TO OPEN SEASON SATURDAY

"Sign of the Cross" Will be Bill for First Performance Since Play-House Was Remodeled

"The Sign of the Cross," a heavy dramatic production, will be the play with which the remodeled La Crosse theater will be opened Saturday. The minute details are being hurried through, there being small doubt that the house will be ready for the opening show on that date. The theater part of the new building is already almost completed. The front portion, including the Elks' club and the store buildings will be finished after the theater is done, every effort now being directed toward getting the auditorium into shape so that none of the good early plays will be missed. "The Umpire," a big Chicago hit, will play at the theater within ten days after the opening of the house, and many other good productions are booked, including several week stand companies.

Plot of the Play

The plot of the "Sign of the Cross," is: Marcus Superbus, prefect of Rome, meets in the streets Mercia, a beautiful Christian maiden and falls in love with her. Marcus has been ordered by Nero to exterminate the fast increasing sect of Christians. Learning that Mercia is one of the despised followers of the new faith he goes to her disguised as a boatman and warns her of her peril. While he is with the girl and her companions word is brought that Stephanus, a young boy who is of their number, has been arrested. Marcus hurries to the prison, but is too late to save Stephanus from the rack where he has been tortured until he has revealed the meeting place of the Christians. Learning from the boy that Mercia will be at the meeting the prefect and his guards hasten to the grove by the Cestrian bridge where it is in progress. The worshippers have been attacked by the soldiers of the emperor and Marcus arrives just in time to save the life of the woman he loves. Berenis, a wealthy patrician, who is in love with Marcus, hears of his infatuation for the Christian girl. Goaded on by the enemies of the prefect she induces Nero to condemn Mercia to death. Marcus appeals to the emperor who at last promises to save the girl from her frightful doom in the arena if she will publicly renounce her faith. Marcus goes to her and entreats her to live and become his wife. This she refuses to do although she confesses that she loves him. Won at last by the unswerving faith of Mercia and her companions Marcus, too, embraces the belief of the woman he loves and hand in hand they go to the beasts and to the light beyond." At the La Crosse theater Saturday, Sept. 8.

The Bijou, vaudeville theater, opened yesterday with an excellent show to packed houses. The Unique is also enjoying good patronage this week with a first class production of moving pictures and illustrated songs.

PRIMARIES IN WISCONSIN TODAY

Interest Centers in Gubernatorial Race Between Davidson and Lenroot

(Tribune Special Service.)

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Sept. 4.—Democrats and republicans of Wisconsin are today holding their first general primary election to name their candidates for state offices by direct vote. Nominations are to be made for governor, lieutenant-governor, secretary of state, state treasurer, and commissioner of insurance, also for members of congress.

On the republican side of the factional warfare between La Follette and Spooner, which has kept Badger State politics at the boiling point for a long time past, is the most important factor in the contests for state office and also for congressmen.

Governor J. O. Davidson, who succeeded to the governorship on the resignation of La Follette, is the republican candidate for that office. All other republican candidates for the gubernatorial nomination have withdrawn with the exception of I. L. Lenroot, speaker of the house of representatives, and who is La Follette's personal choice for the governorship. There are several candidates for each of the other places on the republican state ticket and in nearly every case the contest is a lively one.

Though there are several interesting contests on for places on the democratic ticket, the situation as a whole is much more harmonious than with the republicans. The two aspirants for the democratic gubernatorial nomination are Ernst Merton, of Waukesha and John Aylward of Madison.

S.S.S. CURES CANCEROUS ULCERS

Whenever a sore or ulcer is slow in healing, and shows signs of eating into the surrounding flesh, it is safe to say that the blood is infected with cancerous germs. Some old taint or poison that has lain dormant awaiting a favorable opportunity to assert itself has found an outlet on the face, arms, legs or other part of the body, and the place has become inflamed and festering, and a chronic ulcer is the result. When middle age is reached or passed, and the vital powers are naturally weaker, a hurt of any kind heals slowly, and often an insignificant scratch or bruise on warty growths, moles, pimples, etc., will begin to inflame and are soon large, eating ulcers. The cancerous germs are rooted in the blood, and while salves, plasters, lotions, etc., keep the surface clean, they are useless in affecting a cure. S.S.S. cures cancerous ulcers by going down into the blood and removing the germs and poisons which produce the trouble. It cleanses the circulation of all unhealthy matter, and when the cause is removed the sore heals permanently. S.S.S. enriches and strengthens the entire blood-supply, and being purely vegetable, it is a pleasant, safe remedy for young or old, and ulcers of every kind yield promptly to its curative properties. Book on sores and ulcers and medical advice free.

THE STRAIN ON CHILDREN'S EYES

Often times a child will have trouble and the parents will not attend to its needs and the result is the child is hindered in its school work. It will be dull and complain of headache caused by the strain and sometimes the eyes will cross. In such cases my glasses will relieve the strain and correct the trouble without medicine or surgery. My work is guaranteed.

GLASSES THAT CORRECT EYE STRAIN

The evidence is plainly before you and that this child was considered dull and incompetent before wearing my glasses can be vouched for by her teacher at Redfield school and that fact that her standing in reading was 54 before and 76 after wearing the glasses, readily proves all I have claimed. This girl's name is Lizzy Cunningham, daughter of Mrs. W. Cunningham, 1114 S. Fourteenth street. Let me examine your child's eyes.

If placed end to end the war vessels would have made a line exactly two miles long.

OYSTER BAY, N. Y., Sept. 4.—at the scheduled time, 10:45 o'clock, President Roosevelt yesterday reviewed the largest fleet of modern American warships ever assembled in United States waters.

Riding on the sun-kissed waters of Long Island sound, off the entrance of Oyster Bay, there were drawn up for his inspection three lines of battleships, etc., each line over three miles long, representing the flower of the American navy. With their freshly donned coats of glistening white paint, with flags flying from every point of vantage, and sides manned by white-garbed cheering jacksies and bands playing, they might have seemed the playthings of a nation. But the big, frowning, guns peered from deck and turret, while smaller ones bristled along the sides, and the frequent boom of cannon told another story of the more serious work they might be called upon to do. Viewed from either standpoint, it was an inspiring sight, calculated to arouse every spark of patriotism in the breast of every American who witnessed it.

Drawn up in battle formation, the fleet was fully equipped for war, except that the decks were not cleared for action and the ships did not wear their war coat of gray-colored paint. Otherwise—and to remedy these points would take but an hour or two—the fleet was in perfect readiness to sail away and meet an enemy. While each unit was well stocked with ammunition, coal and provisions, auxiliary vessels were present, carrying reserves of 7400 tons of coal, 2500 tons of provisions and 600,000 gallons of water. Every branch of the navy was represented in the combined squadrons. The cruisers ranged on the outside to do the scouting, the monitors for coast defense, the battleships to do the heavy work, with the torpedo boats and submarines to back them up and to perform duty between the ships and the coast and to protect the supposed base of supplies where the auxiliaries were anchored, were all there.

No American president ever reviewed so powerful and homogenous a fleet as did Roosevelt, nor has any American admiral had so proud a command under his flag as did Rear Admiral Robley D. Evans, "Fighting Bob," this day.

Incidentally this assemblage affords an excellent example of the way in which the navy keeps itself prepared for war or emergency of any sort. It was only a short time ago that the president, desiring to keep the navy on the alert, sent a surprise order to Washington that the Atlantic fleet, made up of strictly fighting units, should be prepared for this inspection this day. Other plans had been made for many of the vessels taking part in the review, some of which are scheduled to proceed to the Asiatic station, and a number that were repairing at navy yards had to have overtime work done on them to put them in line today. The naval system, however, worked smoothly, and the vessels are all here in fighting trim. There are 40 of them, from big battleships to tiny submarines, not counting the five auxiliary ships, the secretary of the navy's flagship, the Dolphin, and the cruiser Des Moines, which carried the interested observers from foreign countries. Upon the 40 ships are 1178 guns, 812 officers and 15,235 men. Together they constitute a most formidable display of naval strength.

The ships began arriving Sunday and took up their designated positions with intervals of 450 feet between each with their prows pointed eastward. The battleships and the cruisers were the first to arrive, followed by the monitors and torpedo boats.

As commander-in-chief of the navy, the president was ready on time this morning to proceed to the review. He was on board his flagship the Mayflower, at 10:30 o'clock, and promptly not salute with guns, but there was a continuous cannonading of six-pounders from the big ships as he passed down the line. The president inspected each ship carefully and seemed to enjoy both the noise and the display, for his face was in smiles during the tour.

At the end of the three-mile run the Mayflower rounded the stern of the monitor Arkansas and at the western end of the line passed upon the port side, successively, of the cruisers Denver, Cleveland, Tacoma, Minneapolis, the armored cruisers Maryland, Colorado, Pennsylvania, and West Virginia, and the battleships Iowa, Indiana, Illinois and Alabama. Passing then across the entire front of the fleet, the Mayflower steamed down the outside or starboard side of the torpedo boats, and then up the lane between the monitors, cruisers and battleships, passing the Maine on her port side this time, and proceeded to her anchorage at the head of the fleet.

The review lasted about two hours and a half. As soon as the Mayflower dropped her anchors, launches from the Maine and other flagships began steaming towards her, bringing the flag officers, division commanders and commanding officers of the fleet to pay their individual respects to the president. Evans was the first to arrive and the others followed in the order of their seniority. At 1:30 o'clock a luncheon was served by the president to them and to the invited guests. Later the president visited the Maine, Alabama, West Virginia and Louisiana, being received at each ship with the utmost formality and the customary gun-firing.

The review ended about 4 o'clock, when the president returned to Oyster Bay. Tonight the warships will be electrically illuminated and the sky will be made gay with the searchlights of the larger vessels. Tomorrow the fleet will disperse to their several destinations as ordered by the department.

NEW LEAGUE PLAN IS BASEBALL TALK

NEW YORK, Sept. 4.—An evening newspaper springs the first of the 1906-7 crop of winter baseball tales. It starts a new major league for the purpose of disrupting the National and waging another war against the American league.

Three clubs in Chicago are one of the features of the tale, with James A. Hart, former president of the local National league club, as president of the new organization, and with Freedman and Brush of New York, and Hermann of Cincinnati as the triumvirate who will finance the thing. The purpose of the trio is to get Harry C. Pulliam's job as president of the present National league by leaving him less than half a league to boss.

The new circuit is hoped to include the present National league clubs in New York, Boston, Brooklyn, Cincinnati, and St. Louis, new clubs in Pittsburgh and Chicago, and a transfer of the Philadelphia Nationals to Baltimore. The last named club is now owned by Hermann's manager, Ned Hanlon.

Here is the way the new triumvirate is scheduled to do it, according to the story: Soden and Conant have offered the Boston National club for sale and the "Big Three" will buy it and give it to Fred Knowles, now secretary of the Giants. Ebbets already is said to have fixed a price on the Brooklyn club for the trio. It is not said who will be in charge of that club, but possibly they will give it to Louis Mann. The Robisons already have given the three promoters an option on the St. Louis Nationals.

This would give them control of the New York, Boston, Brooklyn, Cincinnati and St. Louis clubs. But instead of ousting Pulliam from the presidency by the peaceful votes of those five clubs, the story has the "Big Three" forming a new league to vacate Philadelphia in favor of the American league and put new teams in Chicago and Pittsburgh to fight the present owners, besides starting a costly war for players.

MACON, Ga., Sept. 4.—Harmony and enthusiasm were the keynotes of the democratic state convention which assembled in this city today for the nomination of a state ticket to be elected in November. The sweeping majority of Hoke Smith at the recent primary assures his nomination for the governorship on the first ballot. Notwithstanding the fact that the convention is little more than a ratification meeting it has attracted an unusually large number of visitors from all parts of the state.

RUSSIAN SPY'S CLEVER RUSE

(Tribune Special Service.)

BERLIN, Sept. 4.—A curious sidelight is thrown on Russian conditions by the following story which has reached here:

Last October the district governor of Kharkoff received a visit from a young officer who introduced himself as Lieutenant Podgorski, and represented himself as having been sent by the governor of the province of Kiev to assist the civil authorities of Kharkoff in preventing, or suppressing revolutionary disorders. The young man's papers were in perfect order, and he played his part with such consummate art and grace that every facility was placed at his disposal. After two months, Lieutenant Podgorski declared his mission to be at an end and he departed to join his headquarters at Kiev. Now, however, the Kharkoff authorities have just discovered that the governor of Kiev never sent an officer to Kharkoff at all. The whole affair was an audaciously conceived and masterfully executed move by which the revolutionary party placed themselves in the possession of much valuable information regarding the political machinery of the district of Kharkoff.

MONUMENT TO AN INDIAN

OTTAWA, Ill., Sept. 4.—Shabbona park, fourteen miles north of Ottawa, the scene of the Black Hawk Indian massacre in May, 1832, when fifteen white people were slain, was dedicated and the monument erected therein unveiled yesterday. In the presence of 5,000 people the park was named after Shabbona, the Indian chieftain who warned the settlement of impending danger. Those who did not heed his warning were massacred. The last legislature appropriated $5,000 for the establishment of the park and the erection of a monument. The principal addresses were made by M. N. Armstrong of Ottawa and Thomas J. Henderson, Princeton.

Freeport Takes 'Em
Since Saturday Freeport's average has taken an awful bound pennantward—according to Freeport's figures.

Sunday the umpire let the Eau Claire team leave the field after one game, under the impression that no more would be played on account of rain. The Freeport team waited until the Eau Claire team was out of sight, then marched onto the field and declared the game forfeited to themselves. Yesterday, because Green Bay's train was late, Freeport declared the morning game also forfeited to Freeport.

In the team standings shown at the top of this column, these two games, which will without doubt be thrown out, are not figured into the standings of the teams.

Yesterday Freeport played with Green Bay at Beloit, where a Labor day celebration was held and this is the account of Freeport's game, from that place.

BELOIT, Wis., Sept. 4.—Freeport secured both games of a doubleheader with Green Bay yesterday afternoon. The first game was forfeited by Green Bay's lateness in reporting. The second was marred by continual wrangling with Umpire Sweeney and fist fights among the Labor day crowd. Pitcher Gormley of Green Bay has his right wrist broken while at bat in the sixth inning, being hit by a pitched ball. Summary:

Wheat.
Experiments show that wheat has the same nutrition no matter where it is raised. Even though the plant itself gets very poor food it turns out a grain of uniformly high nutrition. The amount of wheat alone varies.

PERT PARAGRAPHS.

It is easy to see good in a man who is in position to do you a favor.

If somebody has to be miserable we'd much prefer that it should be the people we don't like.

The Big Dipper should come in handy if the man in the moon wanted to take a drink out of the Milky Way.

Most men would like to do as their wives want them to do if it weren't so much trouble.

Children shouldn't be expected to act like grownups when grownups act like children.

Sometimes home is where the mortgage is.

Impulse is no sander a guide than prejudice.

People who have their eyes on results aren't always solicitous as to the means.

A mean disposition is one that doesn't harmonize with your own.

Insomnia is cured by going to sleep.

Lazy men were probably created that energetic people might feel virtuous when they see a lazy man.

She is a wise girl who knows that a man who knows how to make a living is a more desirable acquaintance than one who only knows how to dance.

The Reformed Cactus.

One of the greatest feats performed by Wizard Burbank, the man who trains vegetables so they do most everything but play the violin and beat rugs, is the notable achievement of taming the cactus and teaching it to put its sewing away when company calls.

Heretofore the cactus has always had its needle out for the unwary. It has been regarded as a great joke in the cacti family to make the stranger from the east encompassed by an air of innocence and duck trousers who sat down on one of them casually, to arise again hurriedly and begin at once to enrich the language as he felt in his vest pocket for a pair of silver mounted tweezers.

Now all is changed, for the cactus, after taking a correspondence course from Mr. Burbank, has folded its stickers away and no longer considers it its bounden duty to perform a surgical operation on every tenderfoot who strolls into the neighborhood.

Gund's Peerless Beer

For automobile touring parties this famous bottled beer is "just the thing." Being the highest positive grade of beer now brewed, no man need ever be ashamed to offer it to a friend or guest. It is brewed only from the pure natural juices of finest malted barley and choice Bohemian hops. At St. Louis, 1904, it won the Gold Medal, and the best of judges united in exalting its unique flavor and near alone superiority. For more than 10 years it has been brewed by the Gund Natural Process, a process whereby the flavor of hops and the strength of the malt is not dissipated in fermenting, but retained and developed in a most remarkable way.

Peerless is of high food value because of its cereal ingredients, and containing about 4% of alcohol (just enough to aid digestion) it is really a first class temperance beverage. Doctors have long recognized this and recommend it accordingly. Bottled at brewery only. Delivered anywhere in a case. Write or phone your order for a trial case. No better home beer on the market. Try a case delivered. You'll never regret it. Sold everywhere, but you must ask for it by name and insist on getting it. We do declare there is no other beer "just as good."
